The Collaborative brings decades of experience designing trails and boardwalks that provide sustainable public access to natural and ecologically outdoor environments.

Trail designs range in length and character. For example, the now 8-mile-long Neponset River trail passes restored wetland marshes and upland wildlife habits. The Newbury Court Boardwalk in Concord, MA, designed by Bill Giezantanner before joining the Collaborative, provides an accessible boardwalk for residents of the nearby Newbury Court retirement community and general public to enjoy a walk through a quiet woodland setting. The wooden walk is constructed above ground on metal posts that protect the roots of trees along its path.
